DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:
 - I. Claims 1-7, drawn to an antenna system, among with other features, includes addition antennas located on opposite sides of the substrate and oriented in opposite directions and a communication switch for controlling directional pattern and is placed between the additional antenna and fitted with a ground case having a facet.
 - II. Claims 1 and 8-9, drawn to an antenna system, among with other features, a reception/transmissing switch, a receiver, a transmitter, control unit, controller, a signal quality evaluation unit, a signal identification unit with their inputs/outputs and connections.
 - III. Claims 16-24, drawn to an antenna system, among with other features; includes a plurality of flat antennas formed on at least one surface of a substrate and at least one antenna not located on the surface, and at least two of the antennas have a common reflector.
 - IV. Claims 25-29, drawn to an antenna system, among with other features, includes a commutation switch for selectively coupling to one or more of planar antenna and commutes with a reception/transmission switch, and two planar antennas are located proximate the periphery of the substrate and the receiver and the transmitter are located in an interior region of the substrate.

Art Unit: 2821

- V. Claim 30, drawn to a method of controlling an antenna system, among with other things, includes steps of selectively coupling a commutation switch to one or more of the antennas to control the receive pattern of the antenna system, and selectively coupling a commutation switch to one or more of the antennas to control transmit patterns of the antenna system.

2. The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristic of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other bases on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 is a generic claim for species I and II, claim 16 is generic claim for species III and IV.

There is an examination and search burden of these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and /or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) an identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to consider timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.
